

THE OAKHAM CANAL AUDIO WALK

This audio walk tells the story of one of the most important and interesting moments in the history of the town - the rise and fall of the Oakham canal.

You will be accompanied on this five-mile walk, through the town and along the towpaths, by characters from across the ages who will bring you right into the heart of the story, as well as exploring the diverse environment and wildlife that the Oakham Canal Green Corridor Project is working to improve.

The audio for the walk can be downloaded or streamed from a variety of platforms at www.oakhamcanal.org. Alternatively free to loan MP3 players are available (with a deposit) at the Rutland Museum.

We hope you enjoy your trip through time!
